TRIBUTE TO WILSON HIGH SCHOOL

HON. JAMES E. CLYBURN

OF SOUTH CAROLINA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, March 9, 2006

Mr. CLYBURN. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to pay tribute to an extraordinary group of students and their dedicated teacher and mentor. They are one of the American Government classes from Wilson High School and will represent the state of South Carolina in the national We the People . . . The Citizen and the Constitution Mock Congressional Hearing Competition. That event will be held here in Washington, DC during the month of April. Located in Florence, South Carolina, Wilson High School is one of the outstanding public schools I proudly represent in this body.

These young scholars have worked diligently to reach the national finals and through their experiences have gained profound knowledge and understanding of the fundamental principles and values of our constitutional democracy.

The students are: Jordan Berry, Robert Bonanno, Alyssa Carver, Kevin Cielo, Alexx Diera, Amanda Fan, Jessica Frieson, Carrie Goforth, Meagan Harley, James Howell, David Hubbs, Praveen Jacob, Challis King, Amit Om, Bradley Orr, Louis Palles, Robert Razick, Daniel Schuetz, and Ana Weiland.

In addition, I would like to commend their teacher, Yvonne Rhodes, who deserves much of the credit for the success of the class. This is the third time Mrs. Rhoads has led a team of Wilson High Students to these national competitions. We certainly hope for their continued success. Also worthy of special recognition is Beth DeHart, the state coordinator, and Marsha Burch, the district coordinator, who are among those responsible for implementing the We the People program in my district.

We the People is one of the most extensive educational programs in the country specifically developed to educate young people about the Constitution and the Bill of Rights. The three-day national competition is modeled after congressional hearings and they consist of oral presentations by the high school students before a panel of judges. The students' testimony is followed by a period of questioning by the simulated congressional committee. The judges probe students for their depth of understanding and ability to apply their constitutional knowledge.

Findings suggest that national finalists are less cynical about politics and public officials and participate in politics at a higher rate than do their peers. Administered by the Center for Civic Education, the We the People program has provided curriculum materials at the upper elementary, middle, and high school levels for more than 26.5 million students nationwide. Members of Congress and our staffs enhance the program by discussing current constitutional issues with students and teachers and by participating in other educational activities. As a former high school history teacher, I am pleased to know that this program provides students with a working knowledge of our Constitution, Bill of Rights, and the principles of our democratic government.

The class from Wilson High School is currently conducting research and preparing for the upcoming national competition in Washington, D.C. I wish these young scholars the best of luck at We the People's national finals and I look forward to greeting them when they visit the Capitol.

Mr. Speaker, please join me and my colleagues as we congratulate these young scholars from Wilson High School as they compete in this national civics competition.
